Overview

The Journal of Dermatological Science publishes high quality peer-reviewed manuscripts covering the entire scope of dermatology, from molecular studies to clinical investigations. The Editor and his Editorial Board especially encourage the publication of research based on a process of bilateral feedback between the clinic and the laboratory, in which incompletely understood clinical phenomena are examined in the laboratory and the knowledge thus acquired is directly reapplied in the clinic. This continuous feedback will refine and expand our understanding of both clinical and scientific domains. Although the Journal is the official organ of The Japanese Society for Investigative Dermatology, it serves as an international forum for the work of all dermatological scientists. With an internationally renowned Editorial Board, the Journal maintains high scientific standards in the evaluation and publication of manuscripts.

Contact your sales representative for all digital advertising rates and opportunities.
1. Applicability

These terms and conditions apply to all offers, proposals and agreements made by and between the Parties ("the Client") relating to the products and services delivered by Elsevier ("the Products and/or Services") and, along with the relevant Elsevier order acknowledgement, shall form the entire agreement between the parties (the "TC"). These terms supersede any previous understandings, written or oral, between the Parties.

2. Offer and acceptance/ Description

The formation, existence, construction, performance, validity and all aspects of the TC shall be governed by the law of the corporate domicile of the Elsevier company which is providing the Products or Services. The Client and the Parties agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of that state for any claim arising out of or in connection with the Services.

3. Execution and modification of the order

Any modification to the order for the Products or Services shall be in writing and signed by both Parties. Any request for variation of the order shall be in writing and signed by both Parties.

4. Prices, taxes and currencies

Unless otherwise agreed in writing and as per the order, all Payments shall be made within thirty (30) days of the invoice date. Invoices shall be issued in the currency agreed by the Parties. Each order for the Products and Services by the Client from Elsevier shall be deemed to be an offer by the Client to Elsevier to supply such Products and Services on the terms and conditions stated in the order acknowledgment. In the event of a dispute about the interpretation of the order acknowledgment, it may result in an adjustment to the final price and/or delivery schedule at Elsevier's discretion. If at the request of the Client, Elsevier reserves additional time to prepare the Products for delivery, then the Client shall be responsible for paying all additional costs incurred.

5. Delivery

The Client is solely responsible for collecting the Products from the delivery point as stated in the order acknowledgment. The Client is responsible for all additional costs incurred as a result of late or incorrect delivery. The Client reserves the right to withhold payment for any Products that are damaged or defective. The Client shall ensure that all Products are inspected upon receipt and that any damage or defects are noted on the delivery docket. The Client is responsible for any losses or damages incurred during transportation of the Products.

6. Cancellations & Returns

Orders for advertisements must be cancelled in writing prior to the relevant advertisement being published or the Client's place of business or residency. The Client and its officers, directors, employees and agents shall make no claim against Elsevier for damages or losses sustained in connection with its dealings with any employee or official of a government agency or any other government owned, operated or controlled business or organization.

7. Labour

The Client is responsible for all costs and expenses incurred in connection with the Products and Services, including, without limitation, any costs associated with the hire of laborers, equipment, materials or other items required for the delivery of the Products.

8. Liability and claims

Any liability arising from a breach of this representation and warranty may be asserted by either of the following: (a) by any loss of anticipated profits or expected future business; (b) damage to reputation or goodwill; (c) any loss or damage, costs or expenses, arising from any breach of any of the terms of the TC; and (d) any indirect or consequential loss or damage.

9. Force majeure

If by reason of labor dispute, strikes, inability to obtain labor or materials, fire or other action of the elements, or appropriation or other causes beyond the control of a party, such party is unable to perform in whole or in part any obligation hereunder, the party so affected shall give prompt notice of the circumstances constituting such inability or delay to the other party, and the time for performance of such party's obligations shall be extended by the period of time during which such inability or delay is caused by such force majeure event. The term "force majeure" includes any event beyond the control of the party affected which could not reasonably have been anticipated and which could not have been avoided by such party despite the exercise of reasonable care. The party affected by force majeure is entitled to give written notice of the circumstances constituting such inability or delay at any time after the occurrence of such event. The term "force majeure" shall not apply to any event which is caused by the default of the party claiming the force majeure.

10. Indemnity

The Client agrees to indemnify Elsevier and its employees, officers, agents and representatives from and against any and all claims, losses, damages, expenses, costs or judgments, including attorney's fees and expenses, which arise out of or in connection with the Products or the Services.

11. Oversight

If any party is found to be in violation of this representation and warranty, the other party may, in their sole discretion, impose any of the following remedies: (a) rescind the TC and require the return of all Products or Services; (b) obtain a refund of any amounts paid under the TC; (c) require the payment of any fees and costs imposed under the TC; (d) obtain a lien on the Products or Services; or (e) require the provision of adequate assurance of performance by the party in violation of this representation and warranty.

12. Compliance with laws

The Client further agrees that he/she will not accept any payment or other benefit in money or in kind from any person or entity that is not a Client of Elsevier. The Client agrees to indemnify Elsevier and its employees, officers, agents and representatives from and against any and all claims, losses, damages, expenses, costs or judgments, including attorney's fees and expenses, which arise out of or in connection with the Products or the Services.

13. Cancellations & Returns

Orders for advertisements must be cancelled in writing prior to the relevant advertisement being published or the Client's place of business or residency. The Client and its officers, directors, employees and agents shall not make any claim against Elsevier for damages or losses sustained in connection with its dealings with any employee or official of a government agency or any other government owned, operated or controlled business or organization. The Client agrees to indemnify Elsevier and its employees, officers, agents and representatives from and against any and all claims, losses, damages, expenses, costs or judgments, including attorney's fees and expenses, which arise out of or in connection with the Products or the Services.
