Journal of Clinical Neuroscience

Overview

This International journal, Journal of Clinical Neuroscience, publishes articles on clinical neurosurgery and neurology and the related neurosciences such as neuropathology, neuroradiology, neuroophthalmology and neurophysiology. The journal has a broad international perspective, and emphasises the advances occurring in Asia, the Pacific rim region, Europe and North America. The Journal acts as a focus for publication of major clinical and laboratory research, as well as publishing solicited manuscripts on specific subjects from experts, case reports and other information of interest to clinicians working in the clinical neurosciences.

3. Prices, taxes and currencies

Unless otherwise agreed by Elsevier in writing, the payment for the Products and Services shall be due within [time frame]. All prices shall be exclusive of any State, local, or other export-related sales, use and/or other taxes, levies, duties, taxes or charges imposed by any governmental authority, which are payable by the Client. The Client further agrees that he/she will not accept any payment or other benefit in money or in kind from any person or entity to influence any sale or transaction or reward for any act or forbearance or in connection with any matter or business transacted by or on behalf of Elsevier. Payment includes reasonable and bona fide expenditures, such as travel or lodging expenses, which are incurred or paid for in connection with the performance of the Services or the execution or performance of a contract provided that such payments are permissible under the applicable law or regulation. Nothing in the TC shall be construed as creating an obligation to indemnify the other party against the other party’s own negligence. Elsevier’s liability for any other loss impuatable to it shall in any event be limited to the invoice value of the part of the Services or Products which are the subject of the claim. Elsevier shall be entitled to set off any amount which it may be entitled to recover from the Client against any amount due from Elsevier to the Client. The Client has entered into this TC in its corporate domicile.

6. Distribution

The Client shall not engage, reproduce, republish or reproduce any part of the Products in any other medium without the written consent of Elsevier. The Client shall not directly or indirectly facilitate or allow any other to engage in these activities. The Client shall promptly notify Elsevier if it becomes aware of any piracy, reproduction, or playback of the Products by any third party. The Client is solely responsible for collecting from its customers and other data owners in the rate scale of the Products, any fees or costs related to the delivery of the Products, including any value-added tax or similar tax levied on new or resale value of resulting from any unsold amounts. Delay or failure in obtaining such payments will not affect the Client’s obligation to pay for the Products under the TC.

7. Intellectual property

Copyright and other intellectual property rights in all Elsevier publications, products and services are reserved solely with Elsevier unless otherwise agreed in writing. The rights granted by Elsevier are not to use, or assign, transfer, sublease or to the extent the provision thereof applies, distance learning or correspondence courses. The Client acknowledges in writing, that it is not the Client’s responsibility to ensure the accessibility of the Products or Services and that the Client’s obligation to pay for the Products or Services shall not be limited to the Client’s efforts to ensure the delivery of the Products or Services. The Client shall maintain the Products or Services, at the Client’s own risk and expense, and shall be solely responsible for the Products or Services.

8. Warranty

The Client represents and warrants that it is purchasing Products or Services from Elsevier for its own account and not on behalf of or in collaboration with any person or entity. It is shown in writing, that it is not the Client’s responsibility to ensure the accessibility of the Products or Services and that the Client’s obligation to pay for the Products or Services shall not be limited to the Client’s efforts to ensure the delivery of the Products or Services. The Client shall maintain the Products or Services, at the Client’s own risk and expense, and shall be solely responsible for the Products or Services.

9. Force majeure

The formation, existence, construction, performance, validity and all aspects of the TC shall be governed by the law of the corporate domicile of the Elsevier company which is providing the Products or Services. The parties agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of that same corporate domicile. Wherever the TC is executed, including the date of cancellation. No new external order shall be accepted by Elsevier unless written consent is obtained from Elsevier by the Client. The Client shall not be relieved of its obligations set forth in this TC, then such party shall be relieved of those obligations to the extent it is acting as a consumer. The parties agree that the Florida Statutes (the "Florida Statutes") shall apply to this TC or the interpretation or enforcement thereof. The TC, or any other provision of the TC, shall be deemed severable and any severance of the applicable provisions of the TC shall not affect the validity or enforceability of any other provision of the TC.

10. Audit

The parties agree to pay reasonable and bona fide expenditures, such as travel or lodging expenses, which are incurred or paid for in connection with the performance of the Services or the execution or performance of a contract provided that such payments are permissible under the applicable law or regulation. Nothing in the TC shall be construed as creating an obligation to indemnify the other party against the other party’s own negligence. Elsevier’s liability for any other loss impuatable to it shall in any event be limited to the invoice value of the part of the Services or Products which are the subject of the claim. Elsevier shall be entitled to set off any amount which it may be entitled to recover from the Client against any amount due from Elsevier to the Client. The Client has entered into this TC in its corporate domicile.
