JAAD International

Overview

JAAD International is one of two open access companion titles to the highly-respected Journal of the American Academy of Dermatology (JAAD). It publishes original, peer-reviewed articles of interest to an international audience of researchers, clinicians, and trainees in all dermatologic subspecialties, as well as physicians in related fields. Clinical and translational research studies containing new information that advances the understanding and practice of dermatology on a broad and inclusive basis are welcome.

1. Applicability
These terms and conditions shall apply to all proposals, offers and agreements made between Elsevier and the Client for the purposes of the Client's order of Products or Services. For the purposes of this contract, "order" shall mean any request for Products or Services sent or written by the Client, or by any of its directors, officers, employees or agents whether in writing or verbally or by any other means. The order must be in accordance with the terms and conditions and shall be binding on the Client. The order shall be deemed to have been received when it is received by Elsevier. Elsevier shall be entitled to verify the order and may reject it or part of it at its absolute discretion and without liability, or to require any or all of the terms of the order to be changed at its absolute discretion and without liability.

2. Acceptance and description of order
The formation, existence, construction, performance, validity and all aspects of the TC shall be governed by the law of the corporate domicile of the Elsevier company which is providing the Products or Services. The parties agree to submit to the jurisdiction of any competent court of the corporate domicile of the Elsevier company which is providing the Products or Services for the purpose of enforcing any judgment or arbitration award rendered in any such dispute.

3. Execution and modification of the order
All Products and Services agreed by both parties in the relevant order, including such things as format, printing processes, technical design, size and/or of address, fonts, weights and the like. All drawings, descriptive matter, specifications and advertising material is Elsevier's property and to be treated as confidential and not subject to disclosure to third parties or competitors.

4. Prices, taxes and currencies
If by reason of labor dispute, strikes, inability to obtain labor or materials, fire or other action of the elements, or appropriation or other causes beyond the control of a party, such party is unable to perform in whole or in part, or any alteration or modification thereof, the refund of the Products not delivered in whole or in part shall be deemed to have been received and no part of the price shall be refunded.

5. Liability and claims
In any event, any part of the liability of Elsevier is to be limited in accordance with these terms and conditions and the Client will not seek damages in any event on any other basis except for the limited liability provided for under the laws of the country where business is being conducted and/or the Client's place of business or residency. Client and its officers, directors, employees and agents shall conduct and/or the Client's place of business or residency. Client and its officers, directors, employees and agents shall conduct and/or perform the Products or Services or the execution or performance of a contract provided that such payments are permissible under the Applicable Laws. In the event that the Client or any of its officers, directors, employees or agents is, in the Client's sole discretion, incapable of fulfilling any obligation hereunder due to any such limitation, the Client may immediately cancel the order and charge any such payments made by the Client to the extent permitted by law.

6. Distribution
The Client shall not assign, transfer, resell, or pledge the Products or any other products of Services or its or any other party to any other party to engage in similar activities. The Client shall promptly notify Elsevier of any breach of any privacy, security, or intellectual property rights of the Client or its business by any other party. The Client shall be liable for all costs incurred or committed/contracted from the date of receipt of written notice of cancellation by Elsevier. Orders for advertisements must be cancelled in writing prior to the relevant ad date. Payment does not include a payment of reasonable and bona fide expenditures, such as travel or lodging expenses, which are incurred in performance of the Services or the execution or performance of a contract provided that such payments are permissible under the Applicable Laws.

7. Intellectual property
The formation, existence, construction, performance, validity and all aspects of the TC shall be governed by the law of the corporate domicile of the Elsevier company which is providing the Products or Services. The parties agree to submit to the jurisdiction of any competent court of the corporate domicile of the Elsevier company which is providing the Products or Services for the purpose of enforcing any judgment or arbitration award rendered in any such dispute.

8. Force majeure
The Client shall at all times during the term strictly comply with all applicable laws, ordinances, codes, regulations, and administrative orders (jointly “Applicable Law” or “Laws”) relevant to its duties, obligations and performance under this Agreement, including, without limitation, this Agreement and all orders, contracts and agreements entered into by the Client and any other party with the Client. The Client shall not engage in any act or omission that would cause or encourage the Awarding Body or other governmental agency, pursuant to the Act, to determine that the Client was in violation of the bid bond or any other obligation created by the Act. The Client shall provide Elsevier with copies of all communications, reports, and other documents relating to the Client's compliance with the Act.

9. Force majeure
