Kidney International Reports

Overview

Kidney International Reports, an official journal of the International Society of Nephrology, is a peer-reviewed, open access journal devoted to the publication of leading research and developments related to kidney disease. With the primary aim of contributing to improved care of patients with kidney disease, the journal will publish original clinical and select translational articles and educational content related to the pathogenesis, evaluation and management of acute and chronic kidney disease, end stage renal disease (including transplantation), acid-base, fluid and electrolyte disturbances and hypertension. Of particular interest are submissions related to clinical trials, epidemiology, systematic reviews (including meta-analyses) and outcomes research. The journal will also provide a platform for wider dissemination of national and regional guidelines as well as consensus meeting reports. Article categories include but are not limited to full length articles, brief reports, research letters and case reports, as well as editorials, narrative reviews and commentaries on recent developments in the literature. While maintaining a rigorous peer review process, the journal will use innovative technology to provide authors novel means to share findings and data with readers in a timely manner.

These terms and conditions shall apply to all offers, proposals, made and accepted by Elsevier to the Client (as defined below), upon and in respect of any Products or Services rendered by Elsevier to the Client, unless otherwise agreed in writing. The Client acknowledges and agrees that the provisions of these Terms and Conditions shall apply to all offers, proposals, made and accepted by Elsevier to the Client, upon and in respect of any Products or Services rendered by Elsevier to the Client, unless otherwise agreed in writing.

2. Offer and acceptance/ Description

Unless otherwise agreed in writing, Elsevier shall be under no obligation to accept any order for any Products or Services made by the Client. The Client’s expression of interest in purchasing the Products or Services or any rates, prices or other information herein shall not constitute an offer to sell or an acceptance of an offer to buy, but only an invitation to treat. Elsevier reserves the right to decline any order or request for any reason.

3. General and modification of the order

No modification of any order shall be effective unless made in writing and signed by an authorized representative of Elsevier. Any modification to these Terms and Conditions or any agreement between the parties (the “TC”) shall be effective only if in writing and signed by an authorized representative of Elsevier. The formation, existence, construction, performance, validity and all aspects of the TC shall be governed by the law of the corporate domicile of the Elsevier company which is providing the Products or Services. The parties agree to submit to the jurisdiction of the court in the corporate domicile of the Elsevier company which is providing the Products or Services.

4. Payment terms

Unless otherwise agreed in writing, all payments shall be made within thirty (30) days of the invoice date. Invoiced amounts not paid on time shall be subject to interest at the then-prevailing rate. Interest shall accrue from the due date until payment is made. If a Client defaults on any payment, Elsevier may take any action deemed necessary to collect the amount due, including but not limited to legal action.

5. Liability and claims

The Client shall not engage in piracy, reproduction, or plagiarism of the Products or any other products of Elsevier or its affiliates, nor shall it directly or indirectly facilitate or otherwise permit any person to engage in these activities. The Client hereby waives any claim or cause of action of any kind against Elsevier, its parents, subsidiaries, affiliates, or agents for personal gain or for that of Elsevier or Elsevier’s affiliates (any such act, a “Prohibited Activity”). A Prohibited Payment shall be deemed to include any payment, direct or indirect, of any money or anything of value to any commercial contact or Government Official for the purpose or intent to induce such person to do anything prohibited by this TC.

The Client shall not sell, transfer, assign, repackage, or republish in any manner, any part of the Products or Services as set out on the Elsevier order acknowledgement or invoice. Where general terms and conditions are inconsistent with the provisions of the Product or Service description, schedule of prices or the underwritten acknowledgment, such inconsistency is not to be considered an amendment to the final price and/or delivery schedule at Elsevier’s discretion. If, at the request of the Client, Elsevier reads additional terms in connection with the nature of the TC, Elsevier shall so note, as the case may be, and in the event of any such request, shall be entitled to change the final price and/or delivery schedule at Elsevier’s discretion.

7. Price

If by reason of labor dispute, strikes, inability to obtain labor or materials, fire or other elements of accident, elements of nature or causes of any kind beyond the control of a party, such party is unable to perform its obligations under this TC, the party shall promptly notify Elsevier of such cause and the extent of the effects of such event.

8. Liability and claims

The Client’s liability to Elsevier for all losses, expenses, or other costs arising out of or related to the Advertising Content or Client’s breach or alleged breach of any of the foregoing is limited to no more than the amount of the profits earned by the Client from the breach.
