CASE

Overview

CASE, an international cardiovascular imaging case reports journal, is committed to encouraging excellence in cardiovascular ultrasound worldwide and its application to patient care. This journal supports the mission of the American Society of Echocardiography by publishing peer-reviewed case reports that make teaching points or scientific observations about echocardiography in the clinical setting.

1. Applicability

These terms and conditions shall apply to offers, proposals and agreements made between the parties (the "Client") and Elsevier as well as to any third party or its agent ("the Client") relating to the products and/or services of Elsevier ("the Products and/or Services") and, along with the relevant Elsevier order acknowledgment, shall form the entire agreement between the parties (the "TC"). These terms supersede any previous version of the TC. For the purposes of this TC, " else, shall not be construed as a waiver of any of its rights under the TC.

2. Acceptance and descriptions

All offers, orders, and tenders for the sale of the Products and Services by the Client from Elsevier shall be deemed to be offered to the Client to purchase the Products and Services subject to the TC. No order placed by the Client shall be deemed accepted until a written acknowledgement of order is issued by Elsevier. Any modifications to the TC shall not be binding unless expressly agreed to in writing and signed by an authorized signature of Elsevier. Nothing in the TC will exclude or limit Elsevier's Liability for fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation. When Products are delivered direct to a third party product or software such sale may be subject to additional terms.

3. Prices, taxes and currencies

All prices are exclusive of value added tax (VAT), unless otherwise agreed in writing. VAT or other taxes or levies imposed by any authority or on any account shall be charged at the greatest rate applicable and paid by the Client unless otherwise agreed in writing. The Client agrees to pay for all taxes, duties, levies, imposts, or fees that are applicable to the Products, Services or their transport. All taxes levied by any authority or on any account shall be paid in the currency specified at the time of the submission of the order or as otherwise agreed in writing.

4. Payment

All payments shall be made in accordance with the TC. Payment for all invoices must be made within the time period specified in the TC. If no time period is specified, such payment shall be due within thirty (30) days from the date of receipt of invoice. On all orders, including payments made by credit card, Elsevier retains a charge of seven percent (7%) of the order amount to cover credit card processing fees. All invoices are final and no claim or counterclaim will be accepted at any time unless Elsevier specifically agrees in writing. Payment terms can be varied from time to time in writing. Payment terms are subject to change without notice. All amounts due to Elsevier shall be paid in full and in accordance with the TC, without deduction or set-off of any kind.

5. Distribution

Any returns of the products shall be subject to the relevant Elsevier company's return policy. Costs of return will be incurred by the Client. Reprints cannot be returned once these have been printed.

6. Ownership of the products

A Client shall not resell the Products before ownership has passed to it provided that any sale shall be effected in the ordinary course of the Client's business at full material value and any such sale shall be a sale of the Client's own business at full material value and any such sale shall be a sale of the Client's own business. Legal and beneficial title in any tangible Products supplied by Elsevier to the Client shall remain with Elsevier. If the Client fails to pay any amount due in accordance with the TC, Elsevier may retain and sell such of the Products as is necessary to satisfy the Client's outstanding debt. Elsevier shall be entitled to apply any monies received by the Client, to clear any of the Client's outstanding debts to Elsevier. Any part of the payment due under the TC without any deduction whether by way of any set-off, counterclaim, discount, abatement or otherwise unless the Client has a valid court order requiring an equal amount to be paid to the Client. From the due date of the invoice to the date of payment in full, interest at the rate of 1% per month on any amount outstanding shall accrue to the Client.

7. Limitations of liability

To the maximum extent permitted by law, Elsevier does not warrant that the Products and/or Services will meet the Client's requirements or that the operation of the Products and/or Services will be uninterrupted or error-free. Elsevier shall not be liable for any loss that was not foreseeable by the Client and Elsevier at the time this TC was entered into; or (f) any loss that was not foreseeable by the Client for display of the Advertising Content or Client's breach or alleged breach of any of the foregoing representations and warranties.

8. Intellectual property

Copyright and other intellectual property rights to all Elsevier proposals, publications and other Products or Services shall remain with Elsevier and agreed in writing. The Client agrees that it will not resell, sublicense, or grant any other right with respect to intellectual property rights, including without limitation and solely for the benefit of Elsevier, to any person or entity. All intangible Products and/or Services remains with Elsevier and the Client's rights granted by Elsevier are restricted to use solely by the Client and may not be assigned, transferred or sublicensed to any third party. Elsevier may use the Client's trademark, brand name, or other intangible asset as a database identifier and may sell, assign, or otherwise transfer any trademark, brand name, or other intangible asset.

9. Force majeure

In the event of a force majeure event, the Client shall have the right to terminate the TC and to cancel any outstanding orders or contracts, without liability to the Client. In the event of a force majeure event, the Client may terminate this TC in whole or in part at any time and on any account and without notice, and shall not be liable for any loss or damage incurred by the Client or any third party. If, in the event of a force majeure event, the Client is unable to perform any of its obligations under the TC, the Client shall be relieved of those obligations to the extent it is not able to perform due to the force majeure event.

10. General

Parties to the rights set forth in this TC, then such party shall be relieved of those obligations to the extent it is not able to perform due to an event of force majeure. The party subject to an event of force majeure shall use good faith efforts to comply as closely as possible with its obligations set forth in this TC, but shall not be responsible for delays in performance due to an event of force majeure. The Client shall not resell the Products before ownership has passed to it provided that any sale shall be effected in the ordinary course of the Client's business at full material value and any such sale shall be a sale of the Client's own business. The Client shall promptly pay Elsevier with the official receipt of payment of those taxes to the appropriate taxing authority. All financial transactions must be settled in the currency of the applicable Elsevier invoice. The Client will be solely responsible at its own cost for completing any foreign exchange related procedures in the territory that are necessary to settle the invoice in full. Payment of all invoices is due within thirty (30) days of the invoice date and must be made in full and without deduction or set-off of any kind. Any unclaimed property will be returned to the Client within thirty (30) days of receipt of written notice of cancellation by Elsevier. Orders for advertisements must be cancelled in writing prior to the relevant ad.

11. Compliance with laws

The Client represents and warrants that it is purchasing Products or Services for its own account and not and on behalf of any other person or entity. If the Client is an agent, it represents and warrants that it is purchasing the Products and Services from Elsevier for the Client's account and not of more than one identified individual subscriber for such personal use. Client acknowledges that violation of this representation and warranty will cause irreparable harm to Elsevier, and upon violation of any representation and warranty granted herein, Elsevier shall be entitled to rescind such purchase, to reject such order, to terminate any such agreement or to assert any other available remedy. The Client will indemnify and hold harmless Elsevier from any cost or expense incurred or committed/contracted from the date of receipt of written notice of cancellation by Elsevier. Orders for advertisements must be cancelled in writing prior to the relevant ad.

12. Applicability
