1. Applicability of terms and conditions shall apply to all offers, proposals and agreements made between Elsevier and any third party or its agent ("the Client") relating to the products and/or services of Elsevier ("the Products and/or Services") and, along with the relevant Elsevier order acknowledgement, shall form the entire agreement between the parties (the "TC"). If any provision of the TC is held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unenforceable, in whole or in part, the remaining provisions of the TC shall continue in full force and effect. Failure or delay by Elsevier in enforcing or partially enforcing any provision or (provision of any breach of the TC) shall not be construed as a waiver of any rights under the TC.

2. Force majeure events shall be deemed to have occurred if they are beyond the control of Elsevier and cannot (with due diligence) have been avoided, including, but not limited to: Acts of God, governmental restrictions, labor disputes, fire, floods, storms, power failures, social disturbances, inability to obtain materials or parts or sub-contractors, war, and acts or default of other service providers. If any such event occurs, Elsevier shall have the right to delay or cancel the affected order(s) and shall be released from any liability for any delay or loss. Force majeure shall imply also that Elsevier is not responsible for any indirect, consequential or special losses or costs suffered by the Client as a result of any delay or loss, even if such delay or loss was reasonably foreseeable. The Client shall be liable for any payments due under the TC even if such payments are being made in instalments. Elsevier shall not be held responsible for any payment made during the period of the Force Majeure event.

3. Execution and modification of the order. Any modifications to the agreed product or service description, budget or schedule, as set out in the order acknowledgement, may result in an adjustment to the final price and/or delivery schedule at Elsevier's discretion. If, at the request of the Client, Elsevier renders additional Services in connection with the performance of the TC, Elsevier shall act in the name of, to the order of, and at the risk of the Client. Any disputes or claims submitted by the Client shall be resolved at the Client's expense.

4. Prices, taxes and currencies. Unless otherwise agreed in writing by Elsevier in the write-up proposals for the Client and shall be set out in Elsevier's current price list/order/website (print or online). All such prices/statements shall be exclusive of any handling, packing, loading, freight, transport and insurance charges unless otherwise agreed in writing, and shall also be exclusive of any taxes, import duties or other levies imposed on the sale of the Products or Services by local or national authorities, which shall be charged to Elsevier as appropriate. Where applicable, Elsevier shall provide Elsevier Client's VAT registration number or other evidence of tax exemption to Elsevier at the time of placing its order. If the Client is required to withhold any tax on the amounts payable to Elsevier under the TC, then the amount of the tax shall be added to the invoice, and such tax shall be charged to the Client.
