The Lancet Haematology

Overview

The global community of researchers and clinicians working in the research and treatment of haematological disease needs a source of information that is authoritative, evidence-based, and clinically relevant. The Lancet Haematology will become that source, with practice-changing research articles, expert commentary, and provocative opinion in an online-only format. The topics in this journal will be broad, reflecting the breadth of the subject matter, focusing on research that advocates change in, or illuminates, haematological clinical practice. This will include haematology-oncology, red and white blood cell disorders, platelet disorders, stem cell transplantation and induced pluripotent stem cells, transfusion medicine, and related conditions and diseases. Although there have been great leaps towards in haematological research and patient care, there is still much work to be done, and we hope you will join us in delivering better health.

1. Applicability

These terms and conditions shall apply to offers, proposals, and agreements made between Elsevier and the Client and to any third party or its agent ("the Client") relating to the products and/or services of Elsevier ("the Products and/or Services") and, along with the relevant Elsevier order acknowledgement, shall form the entire agreement between the parties ("the TC"). They supersede any previous understanding or arrangement made between the parties.

2. Offer and acceptance/Description

Each offer by Elsevier for the sale of the Products and Services to the Client from Elsevier shall be deemed to be an offer by Elsevier to the Client to supply the Products and Services subject to the TC. No order placed by the Client shall be deemed accepted until a written acknowledgement of order is issued by Elsevier or [Elsevier delivers the Products or issues the invoice to the Client or confirms performance of the Services for the Client. All products are ordered subject to availability of the ordered Products. Unless otherwise expressly agreed by Elsevier in writing, Client represents and warrants that it is purchasing Products from Elsevier for its own account and not on behalf of any third person or entity or any person in an agency, it represents and warrants that it is purchasing the Products and Services from Elsevier for the Client's account and not for the account of any person or entity outside of the Client. If the Client is acting on behalf of a third person or entity, it shall so indicate in the order. The Client represents and warrants that it has the authority to enter into and perform under the TC on behalf of the principal or entity for which it is acting, and that it shall not assign, sublet, or delegate any of its obligations or rights under the TC without Elsevier's prior written consent.

3. Cancellations & Returns

In the event of a cancellation, the Client agrees to pay Elsevier for all Products and Services it has delivered or provided to the Client to the extent of such illegality, invalidity, voidness, voidability, or unenforceability, and the remainder of such provision shall continue in full force and effect. Failure or delay by Elsevier in enforcing or protecting its rights will not be deemed to be a waiver of Elsevier's rights.

4. Prices, taxes and currencies

Unless otherwise agreed by Elsevier in writing the prices for the Products and Services set out in Elsevier's current price list (whether printed or online) shall apply. Any such prices shall be exclusive of all handling, packing, loading, freight, transport and insurance charges unless otherwise agreed in writing, and shall be exclusive of any taxes, duties or other levies imposed on the sale or resale of the Products or Services by local or national authorities, which shall be charged by Elsevier as an appropriate amount. Where applicable, Client shall provide to Elsevier its VAT registration number or other evidence of tax exemption to Elsevier at the time of placing its order. If, under the laws of the territory in which Elsevier is selling the Products, the Client is required to notify any tax to the tax authorities, the Client shall bear the full amount of that tax. The Client shall be responsible for ensuring that it has the authority to make payments to Elsevier under the TC, including without limitation all bank charges and foreign exchange charges.

5. Payment

Payment shall be made within thirty (30) days of the invoice date in the currency stated in the invoice. Any failure by Elsevier to render the Products or Services or to provide the Services to the Client shall not be deemed a breach of this TC and shall not entitle the Client to payment of any interest thereon. The Client may not deduct, set off or charge back against any invoice delivered by Elsevier any claims of whatever nature it may choose. Any returns of the products shall be subject to the relevant Elsevier company's return policy; such policies will be provided to the Client upon request. Reprints cannot be returned once these have been printed.

6. Distribution

The Client shall not engage in piracy, reproduction, or plagiarism of the Products or any other products of Elsevier or its affiliates, nor shall it directly or indirectly facilitate or allow any other party to engage in such activities. The Client shall promptly notify Elsevier if it becomes aware of any piracy, reproduction, or plagiarism of the Products by any third party. The Client is solely responsible for collecting from its customers all amounts due and owing in respect of the sale or delivery of the Products, but shall not further enforce or collect any outstanding amounts owed by any of Elsevier's credit customers. The Client hereby agrees not to sell, rent, lease, distribute or otherwise transfer any of Elsevier's Products or Services, except as permitted by Elsevier in writing. In no event shall the Client sell, lend, lease, rent, distribute, copy or otherwise transfer ownership of any of the copies of the Product to any third party, nor shall the Client sell, rent, lease, distribute or otherwise transfer or disclose the Products or Services to any third party, whether for royalty-free or any other purpose, except as permitted by Elsevier. If the Client engages in piracy, reproduction, or plagiarism of the Products or Services without Elsevier's prior written consent, Elsevier may either (i) publish alternative Advertising Content in consultation with the Client or (ii) have the Client withdraw such pirated, reproduced or plagiarized products and services from circulation. The Client shall have the right to initiate any appropriate legal action against such infringers or violators. Elsevier shall have the right, at any time, to remove content that is not consistent with Elsevier's standards. In addition, Elsevier shall have the right, at any time, to remove any Advertising Content or Client's Advertising Content that is found to be in violation of this representation and warranty.

7. Force majeure

The Client agrees to indemnify Elsevier for any uncollected amounts. Delays or failures in obtaining such payments will not affect the Client's obligation to pay from the Products or Services under the current order until any outstanding invoices are fully paid. Elsevier shall be entitled to apply any monies received by the Client to the outstanding balances owed by the Client as Elsevier may determine.

8. Transfer

8.1. Notwithstanding the provisions of this TC and to avoid the effects of such event to the extent possible. Nothing in the TC shall be construed as creating an obligation to indemnify the other party against the other party's own liabilities. Liability for any other loss imputable to it shall in any event be limited to the invoice value of the part of the TC breached by the breach of confidence. Elsevier is not liable for any other loss which, but for the breach of confidence, would have been avoided. The Client shall immediately cease using the Confidential Information and shall promptly destroy all copies of the Confidential Information in its possession, custody or control within a reasonable time after receipt of written notice from Elsevier.
