Clinical Nutrition

Overview

Clinical Nutrition, the official journal of ESPEN, The European Society for Clinical Nutrition and Metabolism, is an international journal providing scientific information on nutritional and metabolic care and the relationship between nutrition and disease both in the setting of basic science and clinical practice. Published bi-monthly, each issue combines original articles and reviews providing an invaluable reference for any specialist concerned with these fields. Nutrition and nutritional care have gained wide clinical and scientific interest during the past decades. The increasing knowledge of metabolic disturbances and nutritional assessment in chronic and acute diseases has stimulated rapid advances in design, development and clinical application of nutritional support. The aims of ESPEN are to encourage the rapid diffusion of knowledge and its application in the field of clinical nutrition and metabolism.

Being the journal of ESPEN with members from various interests, either focused on basic research or clinical disciplines, the journal reflects the scientific nature of this multidisciplinary background and encourages the coordination of investigation and research from these disciplines. The journal publishes guidelines, consensus statements, review papers, original articles, short communications, and letters to the Editor on those factors in acute and chronic diseases, which have metabolic and nutritional implications. It also publishes scientific works related to the development of new techniques and their application in the field of clinical nutrition.

1. Applicability These terms and conditions shall apply to all proposals, offers, and agreements made between Elsevier and any third party or its agent ("the Client") relating to the products and/or services of Elsevier ("the Products and/or Services") and, along with the relevant Elsevier order acknowledgement, shall form the entire agreement between the parties for the "TC". They supersede any previous verbal or written agreements between the parties for the "TC". No modification of these terms and conditions shall be effective unless agreed in writing and signed by an authorised representative of Elsevier. Nothing in the TC will exclude or limit Elsevier's Liability for fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation. Where products are advertised or supplied under the TC by a third party or product or software such a party may be subject to additional terms.

2. Offer and acceptance/ Description Each order for the Product and/or Services from the Client shall be deemed to be an offer to purchase the Product and/or Services subject to the TC. No order shall be accepted until a written acknowledgement of order is issued by Elsevier. In the event of any dispute or disagreement arising in connection with the TC, the Client shall refer the said dispute or disagreement to Elsevier for arbitration. Elsevier will undertake to respond to the Client as soon as reasonably practicable, but no later than the due date of such invoice, and unless satisfied that the dispute or disagreement is of a substantial nature,_elsevier shall be entitled to apply any monies received by the Client, to clear any of the Client's outstanding debts to Elsevier.

3. Exclusions to standard terms and conditions All amendments made to the TC shall be made in writing and signed by an authorised representative of Elsevier. The Client shall be entitled to assign the TC or any part of it without the prior written consent of Elsevier. Elsevier shall be entitled to assign the TC or any part of it or the Client's account to any third party or product, or software such a party may be subject to additional terms.
