1. Applicability

These terms and conditions shall apply to all proposals, offers, prices, and quotations made by and between any third party and/or its agent ("the Client") relating to the products and/or services of Elsevier ("the Products and/or Services") and, along with the relevant Elsevier order acknowledgement, shall form the entire agreement between the parties for the "TC". They supersede any previous version of any corresponding terms and conditions.

2. Offer and acceptance/ Description

No contract shall be formed unless the Client acknowledges receipt of the TC within 30 days of the date delivered to the Client or, where the Client is in theCancelled territory in which the Client is fulfilling the Products, the Client is required to notified any tax on the invoice payable to Elsevier under the TC. The amount of the payment will be automatically increased to reflect such tax, which will be added to the amount actually tendered to Elsevier, net of all duties, issues any tax or otherwise.

3. Execution and modification of the order

Any modifications to the agreed product or service description, budget or schedule, as set out in the order acknowledgement, may result in an adjustment to the final price and/or delivery schedule at Elsevier's discretion. If, at the request of the Client, Elsevier renders additional material, this will be solely responsible at its own cost for completing any foreign exchange-related procedures in the said territory that are necessary to enable the Client to make payments to Elsevier under the TC, including without limitation all bank charges and foreign exchange charges.

4. Prices, taxes and currencies

Unless otherwise agreed by Elsevier in writing, the price for the Products shall be Elsevier's current published price (or any revised price thereafter) on the date of delivery. The prices in the TC are exclusive of any tax or other charge imposed by any government, governmental, or other regulatory body.

5. Liability and claims

Notwithstanding any provisions in this TC to the contrary, nothing in the TC shall be construed as creating an obligation to indemnify the other party against the other party's own negligence. Elsevier's liability for any other loss (including but not limited to consequential loss or damage) shall in no event be limited to the invoice value of the part of the TC giving rise to the liability. If the TC gives rise to more than one liability, Elsevier's liability in respect of any one of such liabilities shall be proportionately reduced, but in no event shall any such reduction reduce Elsevier's liability in respect of any other liability.

6. Force majeure

If any of the conditions, terms, provisions, and/or conditions set forth in this TC is invalid, unenforceable, or void, then such invalid, unenforceable, or unreasonable part shall to the extent of such illegality, invalidity, voidness, voidability, or unenforceability, be deemed severable and the remainder of such provision shall continue in full force and effect.

7. Intellectual property

Copyright and other intellectual property rights in all Elsevier proposals, publications and other Products or Services shall remain with Elsevier unless agreed otherwise in writing. The rights granted by Elsevier are not subject to any law or may be assigned, transferred or sublicensed without the prior written permission of Elsevier. The rights granted by Elsevier are not assignable or transferable regardless of the purpose for which the Product or Service is to be used by the Client.

8. Compliance with laws

If any part of the TC is held to be void, illegal, invalid, unenforceable, or unreasonable, or contrary to any provisions of any law, the provisions of that part shall be deemed severable and the remainder of such provision shall continue in full force and effect.

9. Offer & Reprints

Payment by date of delivery, and interest at the rate of 1% may be charged to the Client on a monthly basis for any sums outstanding, together with any collection fees incurred by Elsevier. If the Client becomes aware of any irregularity or overcharge or undercharge, it shall promptly notify Elsevier in writing.

10. Advertising & Reprints

In such event, Elsevier may either (i) publish alternative Advertising Content in consultation with the Client or (ii) pay the Client an additional amount equal to the fair market value of the goods or Services not supplied by the Client. From the due date of the invoice to the date of payment in full, interest of the rate of interest as may be charged to the Client on a monthly basis for any sums outstanding, together with any collection fees incurred by Elsevier. If the Client wishes to dispute any invoice in part, the Client shall, as soon as reasonably practicable, but not later than the due date of such invoice, deliver full details of such dispute to Elsevier in writing.

11. Audit

The Client shall not engage in piracy, reproduction, or plagiarism of the Products or any other products of Elsevier or its affiliates, nor shall it directly or indirectly facilitate or any party to engage in such activities. The Client shall promptly notify Elsevier in writing of any activity, invasion, infringement of the protection of the Products by any third party. The Client shall be solely responsible for collecting from its customers any amounts due in respect of the sale of the Products, excluding all cost and expenses incurred by Elsevier, or otherwise.

12. Compliance with laws

Nothing in the TC shall be construed as creating an obligation to indemnify the other party against the other party's own negligence. Elsevier's liability for any other loss (including but not limited to consequential loss or damage) shall in no event be limited to the invoice value of the part of the TC giving rise to the liability. If the TC gives rise to more than one liability, Elsevier's liability in respect of any one of such liabilities shall be proportionately reduced, but in no event shall any such reduction reduce Elsevier's liability in respect of any other liability.

The parties agree that the limited warranties of the Compliance with laws shall not apply to this TC or the interpretation or enforcement thereof. The Client has entered into this TC in its business of becoming aware of any piracy, invasion, infringement of the protection of the Products by any third party. The Client shall be solely responsible for collecting from its customers any amounts due in respect of the sale of the Products, excluding all cost and expenses incurred by Elsevier, or otherwise.
