The American Journal of Pathology

Overview

The American Journal of Pathology, official journal of the American Society for Investigative Pathology, published by Elsevier, Inc., seeks high-quality original research reports, reviews, and commentaries related to the molecular and cellular basis of disease. The editors will consider basic, translational, and clinical investigations that directly address mechanisms of pathogenesis or provide a foundation for future mechanistic inquiries. Examples of such foundational investigations include data mining, investigation of biomarkers, molecular pathology, and discovery research. Foundational studies that incorporate deep learning and artificial intelligence are also welcome. High priority is given to studies of human disease and relevant experimental models using molecular, cellular, and organismal approaches.

Additional terms may be found in the Section "Offers and Terms of Sales.

3. Execution and modification of the order: Each order for the Products and Services shall be executed in accordance with the specifications, designs, schedules and such other terms and conditions as agreed in writing by the Client and Elsevier. Elsevier shall have the right to make any reasonable modifications or improvements to the Products and Services without incurring any obligation to the Client.

4. Intellectual property: Copyright and other intellectual property rights in all Elsevier proposals, publications and other Products and Services shall remain with Elsevier unless agreed otherwise in writing. The Client represents and warrants that it has the necessary licenses and permissions to reproduce, adapt, translate, or otherwise use the Works of any third party. The Client shall be solely responsible for ensuring that its use of any Works does not infringe any copyright or other intellectual property rights.

5. Payment: The Client shall pay to Elsevier the sum of the price and any other charges specified in the invoice. Payment shall be made in the manner agreed in writing. If payment is not made within 30 days of the invoice date, Elsevier shall be entitled to charge interest on the outstanding amount at the rate of 1% per month.

6. Force majeure: If by reason of labor dispute, strikes, inability to obtain labor or materials, fire or other action of the elements, acts of God, war, armed conflict or other causes beyond the control of a party, such party is unable to perform in whole or in part the obligations of this TC, such party shall be excused from such obligations. Such excision shall be effective immediately and no liability shall be incurred by either party.

7. Liability and claims: Elsevier shall not be liable for any of the following losses which may be caused by any breach of this TC or any implied warranty, condition or other representation or any duty of any kind imposed on Elsevier by operation of law (i) loss of profits or anticipated future business; (ii) damage to reputation or goodwill; (iii) any damages, costs or expenses (including interest and any statutory interest which is added to any sum at a higher rate) which are incurred or committed from the date of receipt of written notice of cancellation by Elsevier. The Client has entered into this TC in reliance on the representations and warranties made by Elsevier, which are its sole and exclusive remedies against Elsevier.

8. Representation and warranties: The Client acknowledges that Elsevier has made no representations or warranties in respect of the Products and Services, except as set out in the order acknowledgement. Any such representations or warranties made in writing shall be deemed to be incorporated into these TC. The Client shall be solely responsible for ensuring that its use of any Works does not infringe any copyright or other intellectual property rights.
