Clinical Colorectal Cancer

Overview

Clinical Colorectal Cancer is a quarterly journal established in 2001 focused on colorectal cancer. In 2010, Clinical Colorectal Cancer expanded its scope to include other upper GI malignancies, including pancreas, liver and esophageal cancer. It features an international editorial board comprised of prominent thought leaders, including Editor in- Chief Dr. Edward Chu. It is mailed free of charge to US-based medical oncologists, radiation oncologists, hematologists and surgical oncologists. Each issue features peer-reviewed original contributions, comprehensive reviews and case reports, commentaries, and current trial reports. Also included are brief editorials of current news and the latest topics concerning colorectal cancer issues relevant to clinicians.

Contact your sales representative for all digital advertising rates and opportunities.
1. Applicability
These terms and conditions shall apply to proposals, orders, and contracts for supply and any third party or its assignee ("the Client") relating to the products and/or services of Elsevier ("the Products and/or Services") and, along with the relevant Elsevier order acknowledgment, shall form the entire agreement between the parties for the "TC". These terms supersede any previous written or oral statements or representations made by Elsevier or its sales representatives. Any order acknowledgment, in accordance with the terms and conditions of business provided in this document, and any written or oral statements in the order acknowledgment, may result in an adjustment to the final price and/or delivery schedule at Elsevier's discretion. If the request of the Client results in a termination of the contract, the Client shall re-negotiate a new contract.

2. Compliance with laws
The Client shall at all times during the term strictly comply with all applicable laws, ordinances, codes, regulations, and other requirements of any government or any governmental or municipal authority. The Client shall, at its own cost and expense, defend Elsevier and hold Elsevier harmless against any loss, cost, or expense which Elsevier may sustain, suffer, or be required to pay by reason of any claim that any publication or supply of Products or Services is, or may be alleged to be, in violation of any anti-discrimination law or regulation, or any other right of any person or entity; (iii) Advertising Content may not be materially inconsistent with or an unfair competitor of or disparaging of the Products and/or Services of or sale of any commercial contact or Government Official for the purpose of or intent to induce such Party to commit or induce such Party to do an act prohibited by any anti-corruption law or regulation, or to cause such Party to violate any anti-corruption law or regulation; (iv) Advertising Content may not defame, disparage, or derogate from any person in any manner or for any reason.

3. Services
The Client acknowledges that violation of this representation and warranty will cause irreparable harm to Elsevier. Upon any breach of this representation and warranty by the Client, Elsevier shall be entitled to seek immediate injunctive relief requiring the Client to disclose all recipients of the Products or Services or any part of such recipient's personal information. Elsevier shall properly identify by Client. Elsevier shall use commercially reasonable efforts to comply with descriptions of the Products and Services agreed by both parties in the relevant order, including such things as format, presentation, technical design, color, and size of address, weight, and the like. The drawings, descriptive matter, specifications and advertising by Elsevier or any descriptions or illustrations contained in Elsevier's catalogues or brochures are issued or published for the sole purpose of giving an approximate idea of the described Products and Services described therein. They will form part of the TC publishing, printing, advertising, including, but not limited to, typographical errors, having no significant effect on the editorial content or design characteristics of the Products and Services, cannot be considered a reason for rejecting delivery or, as the case may be, modifying the agreed price.

4. Cancellation & Returns
Cancellations and returns may only be made subject to the relevant Elsevier company's return policy and in the order acknowledgment. Any returns of the products shall be subject to the relevant Elsevier company's return policy and in the order acknowledgment. Goods or Services returned shall be at the Client's expense and risk. If the returned item is received by Elsevier in good condition, then Elsevier shall return to the Client any amount overpaid by the Client. Orders specifying positions are subject to modification or alteration, the Client will have the first right of refusal. The regulations provided in this section are applicable to the Client's purchases from Elsevier, March 2023 Edition.

5. Distribution
The Client shall enter into a sales agreement, reproduction or plagiarism of the Products or any other products of Elsevier, or shall directly or indirectly facilitate or allow any other party to engage in these activities. The Client shall promptly notify Elsevier of any piracy, reproduction, or plagiarism of the Products by any third party. The Client shall be responsible for collecting from its customers amounts due and to enforce the terms of sale. No advertising orders will be accepted for periods longer than one year. Where an order for a series of advertisements is accompanied by a statement or estimate, Elsevier shall be entitled to apply any monies received by the Client, to clear any of the Client's outstanding debts to Elsevier.

6. Fraudulent representations
The Client acknowledges that fraudulent representations, including, but not limited to, misrepresentations of material facts, may cause irreparable harm to Elsevier. Upon any breach of this representation and warranty by the Client, Elsevier shall be entitled to seek immediate injunctive relief requiring the Client to disclose all recipients of the Products or Services or any part of such recipient's personal information. Elsevier shall properly identify by Client. Elsevier shall use commercially reasonable efforts to comply with descriptions of the Products and Services agreed by both parties in the relevant order, including such things as format, presentation, technical design, color, and size of address, weight, and the like.
