Experimental Hematology

Overview

Experimental Hematology presents outstanding coverage of recent progress in stem cell biology, experimental stem cell transplantation, cytokine biology, and cellular immunology. This journal features original research articles and comprehensive reviews, providing a forum for the exchange of knowledge among experimental hematologists, clinical stem cell transplanters, and clinical hematologists. Experimental Hematology is one of the most widely read journals in the area of hematology and transplantation research. It also is of special interest to members of the biotechnology industry. The journal is available full-text online through www.exphem.org for subscribers, who receive access as part of their print subscription.

1. Applicability

These terms and conditions shall apply to all proposals, offers, and agreements made by Elsevier and any third party or its agent (the “Client”) relating to the products and/or services of Elsevier (the “Product(s) and/or Service(s)”) and, along with the relevant Elsevier order acknowledgement, shall form the entire agreement between the parties (the “TC”). They supersede any previous agreement between the parties for the same or similar products and services. In the event of any conflict or uncertainty between these terms and conditions, any representations about the Products and Services shall have no effect unless expressly agreed in writing and signed by an authorised signature of Elsevier. Nothing in the TC will be construed or Elsevier’s Liability for any breach of the TC.

2. Prices, taxes and currencies

If the party is a public body or an agent of a public body, the party shall be responsible at its own cost for completing any foreign exchange-related procedures in the said territory that are necessary to make payments to Elsevier. In the event of any dispute or claim in respect of the TC, neither party shall be precluded from enforcing any provision of the TC, and the TC shall be performed in accordance with the Applicable Law applicable to the relevant contract or transaction.

3. Force majeure

If by reason of labor dispute, strikes, inability to obtain labor or materials, fire or other action of the elements, or interruption of services provided by any third party or any interruption or partial interruption of communications or facilities, or any other cause whatsoever beyond the control of a party, such party is unable to perform in whole or in part any of the obligations under this TC, then such party shall be excused from such performance for so long as such party is prevented from so performing by such causes.

5. Payment

No work shall be performed or delivered under the TC until the Client has paid Elsevier the amounts due and payable thereunder, and until the Client has paid any security deposit required hereunder.

6. Distribution

The Client shall engage no agencies, representatives, or any of the other parties on this or any of the other Products or Services, unless the Client shall have written notice of the same from Elsevier. The Client shall ensure that all agencies, representatives, and other parties comply with the terms of the TC and the rules and regulations applicable thereto.

7. Intellectual property

All proposals, offers, and agreements shall be the property of Elsevier and shall remain its property. The Client shall have no right to assign, sell, lease, transfer, or sublicense any of the rights granted by Elsevier.

8. Liability and claims
