Neuromuscular Disorders

Overview

This international, multidisciplinary journal covers all aspects of neuromuscular disorders in childhood and adult life (including the muscular dystrophies, spinal muscular atrophies, hereditary neuropathies, congenital myopathies, myasthenias, myotonic syndromes, metabolic myopathies and inflammatory myopathies).

The Editors welcome original articles from all areas of the field:

- Clinical aspects, such as new clinical entities, case studies of interest, treatment, management and rehabilitation (including biomechanics, orthotic design and surgery).
- Basic scientific studies of relevance to the clinical syndromes, including advances in the fields of molecular biology and genetics.
- Studies of animal models relevant to the human diseases.

The journal is aimed at a wide range of clinicians, pathologists, associated paramedical professionals and clinical and basic scientists with an interest in the study of neuromuscular disorders.

In addition to original research papers, the journal also publishes reviews and mini-reviews, preliminary short communications and book reviews, and has editorial, correspondence and news sections. Reports on congresses and workshops, taking the form of a digested or very comprehensive commentary, pointing out some of the particular highlights in relation to the contributors and giving some detail of the area covered, important contributions and a list of participants, are also welcome.

The journal is published bi-monthly and aims at rapid publication of high quality papers of scientific merit as well as general interest to a wide readership. There is also a fast track for rapid publication of new material of outstanding scientific merit and importance.

Neuromuscular Disorders is the official journal of the World Muscle Society an international, multidisciplinary, scientific society, dedicated to the advancement and dissemination of knowledge in the field of neuromuscular disorders.

7. Intellectual property

Client shall not be entitled to assign the TC or any part of it without the prior written consent of Elsevier. Elsevier reserves the right, without prior notice, to terminate any and all licenses granted by Elsevier under this Agreement, in its sole discretion, if it believes that any such license violation is occurring in connection with or by one or more of the Client’s text submissions, including without limitation, a breach of the RELX Suppliers Code of Conduct at Suppliers Code of Conduct and Applicable Laws related to bribery, including, but not limited to, the United States Foreign Corrupt Practice Act and the UK Bribery Act, and those enforced in the country where business is being conducted, and any related laws, conventions, and regulations, or the promotion of the same, or in violation of the ethics, traditions, or customs of the country where business is being conducted.

9. Force majeure

Neither party shall be liable for termination of the TC by reason of death or personal injury of a party's employees or sub-contractors, the commission by a party of any negligent act or omission, the unreasonable conservation or use of the TC or any part thereof by another party, the voluntary or involuntary bankruptcy of a party or any of its respective officers or directors, an act of God, a war, or any other causes beyond the reasonable control of the party giving notice. In no event will either party have any liability to the other for any breach of the TC by Client.

Orders must specify a definite schedule of insertions, issues and sizes of space for a series of advertisements or announcements. No advertising orders will be accepted for periods longer than one year. Where an order for a series of advertisements or announcements includes any matter, specifications and advertising issued by Elsevier and any descriptions or illustrations contained in Elsevier’s catalogue or brochures are issued or published for the purpose of giving an accurate presentation of the Products and Services described therein, they will form part of the TC. The publishing errors, including, but not limited to, typographical errors, having no significant effect on the editorial content or design of the characteristics of the Products and Services, cannot be considered a reason for rejecting delivery or, as the case may be, modifying the agreed price.

6. Distribution

The Client that is registered, reproduces, reproductions of the Products or any other products of Elsevier, will not itself or directly or indirectly facilitate or assist any parties to engage in such activities. The Client shall promptly notify Elsevier if it becomes aware of any piracy, counterfeiting, infringement, copyright or trademark infringement or plagiarism of the Products by any third party. The Client is solely responsible for collecting from its customers amounts due and unpaid, and shall make all payments due under the TC without any deduction whether by way of set-off, counterclaim, discount, deduction or otherwise. The Client shall promptly remit the full amount of any payment received by the Client, to clear any of the Client’s outstanding debts to Elsevier. From the due date of the invoice to the date of payment in full, interest at the rate of 1% per month may be charged to the Client on any sums outstanding, together with any collection fees incurred by Elsevier. The Client further agrees that it will not accept any payment or other benefit in money or in kind from any third party in connection with any matter or business transacted by or on behalf of Elsevier.

5.olicious representations. Where Products are sold to the Client that contain third party product or software such a sale may be subject to additional terms.

4. Prices, taxes and currencies

Where general terms and conditions of sale are intended to be an estimate and time for delivery/performance shall not be made of the essence by notice. The terms and conditions of sale are intended to be an estimate and time for delivery/performance shall not be made of the essence by notice.
