Neuromuscular Disorders

Overview

This international, multidisciplinary journal covers all aspects of neuromuscular disorders in childhood and adult life (including the muscular dystrophies, spinal muscular atrophies, hereditary neuropathies, congenital myopathies, myasthenias, myotonic syndromes, metabolic myopathies and inflammatory myopathies).

The Editors welcome original articles from all areas of the field:

- Clinical aspects, such as new clinical entities, case studies of interest, treatment, management and rehabilitation (including biomechanics, orthotic design and surgery).
- Basic scientific studies of relevance to the clinical syndromes, including advances in the fields of molecular biology and genetics.
- Studies of animal models relevant to the human diseases.

The journal is aimed at a wide range of clinicians, pathologists, associated paramedical professionals and clinical and basic scientists with an interest in the study of neuromuscular disorders.

In addition to original research papers, the journal also publishes reviews and mini-reviews, preliminary short communications and book reviews, and has editorial, correspondence and news sections. Reports on congresses and workshops, taking the form of a digested or very comprehensive commentary, pointing out some of the particular highlights in relation to the contributors and giving some detail of the area covered, important contributions and a list of participants, are also welcome.

The journal is published bi-monthly and aims at rapid publication of high quality papers of scientific merit as well as general interest to a wide readership. There is also a fast track for rapid publication of new material of outstanding scientific merit and importance.

Neuromuscular Disorders is the official journal of the World Muscle Society an international, multidisciplinary, scientific society, dedicated to the advancement and dissemination of knowledge in the field of neuromuscular disorders.

1. Applicability

These terms and conditions shall apply to all proposals, offers and orders made between Elsevier and any third party or its agent(s) ("the Client") relating to the products and/or services of Elsevier ("the Products and/or Services"). The Client, by placing any order for the Products and/or Services subject to the TC, acknowledges that it has read and agrees to be bound by the TC. Throughout this Agreement, "Notices" shall mean any written or electronic notice sent to the email address or other contact information provided by Client. Any variations to the TC must be made in writing by an authorized signatory of Elsevier.

2. Offer and acceptance

Offers made by Elsevier are not open to acceptance by the Client unless and until acceptance is made in writing by a duly authorized signatory of Elsevier. Once an order is confirmed by a notification of acceptance from Elsevier, any subsequent modification shall require the written consent of Elsevier. Upon acceptance, the TC shall be binding on the Client and the Client shall be deemed to have agreed to all the terms and conditions herein. The Client shall have no right of set-off or deduction against any invoice.

3. Execution and modification of the order

Any modifications to the Products or product description, schedule, budget or any other aspect of the order shall require the prior written approval of Elsevier. Any such order modification shall be deemed a new order and shall be governed by the terms and conditions applicable to such order modification. Any unaccepted order modification will automatically terminate the original order.

4. Force majeure

Elsevier is not liable for any delay or failure in performance by Elsevier under the TC if caused by circumstances beyond the control of Elsevier, including, but not limited to acts of war, terrorism, natural disasters, civil unrest, strikes, labor disputes, epidemics, governmental regulations, and insufficient delivery of raw materials.

5. Liability and claims

Subject to the limitations of liability provisions set forth herein, in no event shall Elsevier be liable for lost profits or other consequential, incidental, punitive or indirect damages.

6. Distribution

Except as otherwise agreed in writing by Elsevier, no products or Services shall be delivered to the Client other than at the address stated on the invoice. The Client shall remain liable for any undisputed part of any invoice.

7. Intellectual property

The Client acknowledges that all Products and Services are the property of Elsevier. The Client acknowledges that all Products and Services are the property of Elsevier. The Client shall not acquire any intellectual property rights in the Products or Services as set out on the Elsevier order acknowledgement or invoice. Where general terms and conditions are in conflict with the TC, the TC shall prevail.

8. Compliance with laws

The Client further agrees that it will not accept any payment or other benefit in money or in kind from any commercial contact or Government Official for the purpose or intent to induce such a payment or other benefit for personal gain or for that of Elsevier or Elsevier’s affiliates (any such act, a “Prohibited Payment”). A Prohibited Payment will include any offer, promise, or reward for any act or forbearance or in connection with any matter or business transacted by or on behalf of Elsevier.

9. Force majeure

If any breach of this TC by Client. Orders must specify a definite schedule of insertions, issues and sizes of space for a single advertisement or a series of advertisements. No advertising orders will be accepted for periods longer than one year. Where an order for a series of advertisements is accepted by Elsevier, the Client shall remain liable for any undisputed part of such invoice. Elsevier shall be entitled to refuse to supply any Client who has exceeded its credit limit. The Client agrees to pay all amounts owed to Elsevier in full and on time without any deduction or settlement, and to provide all evidence of tax exemption to Elsevier at the time of placing its order.

10. Advertising & Reprints

The Client acknowledges that all Products and Services are the property of Elsevier. The Client represents and warrants that (i) Client holds the necessary rights, licenses and consents to market, sell or otherwise sell, market and distribute the Products and Services and (ii) the Client shall not sell, publish, distribute or otherwise market the Products and Services without the prior written permission of Elsevier.
