Lung Cancer

Overview

Lung Cancer is an international publication covering the clinical, translational and basic science of malignancies of the lung and chest region.

Original research articles, early reports, review articles and editorials covering the prevention, epidemiology and etiology, basic biology, pathology, clinical assessment, surgery, chemotherapy, radiotherapy, combined treatment modalities, other treatment modalities and outcomes of lung cancer are all welcome. Letters to the journals are also welcomed although authors should be aware that the majority will be published online only. Early reports should briefly describe the initial results of a research topic and will be expedited through peer-review.

Manuscripts describing studies on cell lines will only be considered if the data compares at least two types of distinct cell lines and the results have general implications on the understanding of the biology of chest tumours. Authors of studies on cell lines must also agree to make freely available to other researchers any of the cells, clones of cells, or DNA or antibodies, etc, that were used in the research reported and that are not available from commercial suppliers.

1. Applicability

These terms and conditions shall apply to offers, proposals, and agreements made by Elsevier and any third party or its affiliates ("the Client") relating to the products and/or services of Elsevier ("the Products and/or Services") and, along with the relevant Elsevier order acknowledgement, shall form the entire agreement between the parties (the "TC"). They supersede any previous versions of the TC. For the purposes of this TC, the word "elsewhere" in the Client's order personal subscriptions in a representative capacity, for the account and use of no more than one identified institutional subscriber as principal or, if the agent is permitted to transfer the amount actually remitted to Elsevier, net of all taxes, equals the amount invoiced or otherwise due. The Client will evidence of tax exemption to Elsevier at the time of placing its order. If, under the laws of the territory in which the Client is situated, any tax is imposed on the Client in respect of any remuneration received by Elsevier under the TC, then the amount of the payment will be automatically increased to fully offset such tax, so that Elsevier shall not be liable for any such tax or any other tax imposed on the Client in respect of any remuneration received by Elsevier under the TC.

4. Prices, taxes and currencies

Products and Services agreed by both parties in the relevant order, including such things as format, printing processes, design, and all of address, file weights, and the like. All drawings, descriptive matter, specifications and advertising material shown or described elsewhere in Elsevier's catalogues or brochures are issued or published for the sole purpose of giving an approximate description of the Products and Services described therein. They will form part of the TC. Publishing errors, including, but not limited to, typographical errors, having no significant effect on the editorial content or design characteristics of the Products and Services, cannot be considered a reason for requesting delivery or, as the case may be, modifying the agreed price.

5. Suspension and modification of the order

The Client shall immediately inform Elsevier if it believes that any part of the order has been incorrect or incomplete. If the Client is entitled to suspend or cancel any part of the order, it shall give Elsevier immediate notice in writing of such intention, specifying the breach and the date from which the suspension or cancellation is to take effect. Elsevier reserves the right to withhold supply of the Products or Services until the Client pays any undisputed part of such invoice. Elsevier shall be entitled to apply any monies received by the Client, to clear any of the Client's outstanding debts to Elsevier. Elsevier shall be entitled to apply any monies received by the Client, to clear any of the Client's outstanding debts to Elsevier.

6. Distribution

If no dates are so specified, delivery/performance will be within a reasonable time.
