Whether you are launching a new product, aiming to increase sales of existing products or repositioning established ones, Elsevier article Reprints provide an exclusive and distinctive way to promote your brand—hand in hand with both the strength of our multimedia programs and the credible content published in our trusted journals.

If you’re striving to educate HCPs on the latest treatment options or wanting to drive a change in existing prescribing habits, Reprints afford you several successful methods to reach your target audience. One of the most sought-after formats for medical information, Reprints provide you with the opportunity to disseminate authoritative content in easy-to-read hard copy prints and ePrint PDFs.

Leverage Elsevier’s respected journals to reach your targeted HCP audiences and distinguish your brand.

Benefits to sponsors include:

- Accessible on mobile and tablet devices
- Highly-respected abstracts, articles and journals
- Select from a wide variety of content options

Hard copy Reprints include customizable options such as:

- Article translation
- Inclusion of prescribing information/inventory number
- Shrink-wrapping and poly-bagging with Outserts specifically tailored to niche HCPs

ePrints options include:

- Can be distributed by client or by Elsevier
- Mobile ePrints, which are downloadable and designed for use on mobile and tablet devices
- QR Codes, which can be integrated into your advertising to allow quick mobile access

Choose to sponsor any single article, grouping of articles or an entire journal issue. Reprints can be ordered directly from your sales representative or by visiting medreprints.com.